

Heidi Oliva
Executive Support Division Chief
Fire Department

Heidi Oliva, a 23-year veteran with the Los Angeles County Fire Department (LACoFD), is the Executive Support Division Chief. In her role as the Executive Support Division Chief, Ms. Oliva oversees the Communications Section and Headquarters Section. During her tenure with the LACoFD, Ms. Oliva also spent nine years managing the Grants Management Section where she was responsible for program management including needs determination, administration, expenditure auditing, and achievement ratings for federal, state, and private foundation grants, totaling over $10.1 million. Ms. Oliva received her Bachelor of Arts Degree in Psychology from California State University, Los Angeles and is also a graduate of the Los Angeles County Executive Leadership Development and Management Development Programs. Ms. Oliva is a native of Southern California and resides with her two children in Los Angeles County.